STEPS

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, AND POLICY STUDIES
A technical publication of the Potomac Institute for Policy Studies

CALL FOR ARTICLES

STEPS is a technical magazine, published by Potomac Institute Press, with an online version widely distributed as a pdf. STEPS includes articles on the following topics:

- S&T research trends or research opportunities
- Policies that promote or impede S&T research
- Implications or consequences of S&T advances
- Discussions or review of topics in science, technology, or engineering
- Historical developments in science, technology, and engineering or policies related thereto, and lessons learned
- Non-partisan opinion pieces concerning policies relevant to S&T, to include the role of national policies to promote or modify those trends

We invite authors to submit original manuscripts for consideration in our widely distributed publication. Articles should be between 2,000 and 5,000 words in length, formatted according to The Chicago Manual of Style, and include citations or references for further reading. Shorter submissions of less than 2,000 words are also welcomed for consideration as letters, viewpoints, reviews, or brief notes.

For more information, consult our information for authors page:
http://www.potomacinstitute.org/steps/about-us/instructions-for-authors

Please submit articles for consideration to one of the editors listed below or contact us if you wish to discuss a topic before completing an article.

Robert Hummel, Ph.D.
Editor-in-Chief
rhummel@potomacinstitute.org

Timothy Bumpus, Ph.D.
Associate Editor
tbumpus@potomacinstitute.org